FAA Requirements click to create your account

Just to clear up any confusion the FAA calls all our flying machines DRONES so don't think your fixed wing aircraft is exempt. To fly legally you must register your flying machines with the FAA and attach the registration number to your aircraft. The Converse Flying Eagles R/C Club does not enforce these rules it is up to you to comply with the law.

The Recreational UAS Safety Test (TRUST)

What is TRUST?
The law requires that all recreational flyers pass an aeronautical knowledge and safety test and provide proof of passage if asked by law enforcement or FAA personnel. The Recreational UAS Safety Test (TRUST) was developed to meet this requirement. TRUST provides education and testing on important safety and regulatory information. If you fly your UAS recreationally under the Exception for Recreational Flyers, you must pass the test before you fly.

Converse Flying Eagles R/C Club Dues

Converse Flying Eagles R/C has developed a world-class flying site for RC aviation. The materials and equipment for construction and maintenance of such a site are relatively expensive. All the labor to build and maintain our site is provided by the members on a volunteer basis. The club collects annual dues from its members to pay for the maintenance materials and equipment for the site. New members pay a one-time "field improvement fee" equal to their annual dues. Annual dues are discounted for family members of adult members living in the same household, and for student members. Dues are paid through the end of the calendar year and are prorated based on the new member's join date. The field improvement fee is not prorated. Club dues are detailed on the table below:

Bylaws and Field Rules

Converse Flying Eagles was chartered under a Bylaws Document that defines the structure of the club, its officers, dues schedule, grievance and discipline procedures, etc. We have also developed a set of Field Safety and Courtesy Rules that are designed to enhance safety on site. It is the responsibility of all members and prospective members to review and agree to the content of these documents.

Safety First

New members must be able to demonstrate positive control of their aircraft before being released to fly solo at Converse Flying Eagles field. While accidents and incidents can happen to anyone, Converse Flying Eagles is committed to making sure that pilots flying solo on the flight line are competent and safe. We provide free flight instructions with experienced instructors to anyone who requests it, or anyone who requires remedial help. Converse Flying Eagles adheres to the AMA Safety Code, and a copy of those rules, as well as the Converse Flying Eagles Field Safety and Courtesy Rules are posted on a banner inside the shelter at the field. Per AMA requirements, one of our club officers is a "safety coordinator". Please feel free to contact our club Safety Officer at meetings to find out more about the safety protocols at Converse Flying Eagles.

Membership Application

Print out our Membership Application, fill it out completely and send it to the address indicated at the bottom of the form. Once processed, our club secretary will email you a PDF file of your membership ID card to print, cut out and fold in half. ID badge holders are available at the field. Your membership will not be active until we have your completed application, your dues payment, and we have verified your AMA status. Will be discussed and potentially voted on at a club meeting.

Regulations

People flying RC aircraft at Converse Flying Eagles are expected to be good citizens. Gas powered aircraft create noise, and if not carefully flown, may pose a danger to life and property. The AMA has attempted to work closely with the FAA to prevent government regulations from making it difficult or impossible to fly. This means we need to be aware of the regulations that do exist and follow them. For information on these regulations, check out the Academy of Model Aeronautics National Model Aircraft Safety Code.

Why Do We Associate with AMA?

Over the last 80 years, the AMA has grown to be the largest model aviation organization in the world, chartering over 2500 clubs and representing 195,000 members nationwide.

The AMA is our collective voice, protecting our rights and freedoms to fly R/C aircraft without stifling government overreach. The AMA uses email, the network of AMA-sanctioned clubs, and their web site to keep members informed about subjects and issues related to our hobby. They often provide advice and recommendations for members to appropriately and legally address these issues. Let's face it, our hobby has come under some severe scrutiny in the past few years. Drones and irresponsible drone owners have given the government legitimate cause to intervene with laws to keep manned aviation, as well as people and property on the ground safe from inadvertent drone mishaps. The AMA has worked tirelessly to ensure that our freedom to fly model aircraft as hobbyists remain unburdened by unnecessary bureaucratic red tape.

The AMA organizes and sanctions over 2000 competitive model aviation events each year. National title competitions are often held at the AMA headquarters located in Muncie Indiana.
